Mead Bar

MEAD or METHEGLIN (pronounced me-theg-lin) is a good old-fashioned liquor, formerly homemade, of an artificially fermented mash of malt, water and honey. It is sweet, fairly potent and often served combined with one or more spices. The choice is as follows:

- Traditional Mead
- Heather Mead
- Spiced Mead
- Apple Mead
- Redcurrent Mead
- Blackcurrent Mead

CIDERS and PERRIES

Welcome to the Festival Cider and Perry bar. The main bar is located in the Great Hall with a second bar (selling different ciders and perries) in the Darwin Suite. Ciders are labelled in green and the perries in yellow

All have been tasted on scale from very dry through to very sweet, you may disagree, but it gives you a good start when ordering. Any special features, such as single apple / pear varieties or fermentation in spirit casks are also noted on the label. All the ciders and perries sold here are 'real' in the sense that they are made from 100% apple juice (cider) or 100% pear juice (perry); they are neither artificially carbonated nor served under gas pressure.

Bar staff will be happy to discuss the drinks with you and to give (small) tastes
